

Chalice House

Chalice House provides housing to immigrants seeking legal protection in the U.S. from some sort of serious threat (war, violence, persecution) in their home country. Currently they are housing a family from the Uniting for Ukraine program, Yevheniia and Oleksander and their 2 daughters Veronica and Milana. Chalice House is a shared project led by Countryside Church Unitarian Universalist and a coalition of partners.

Cumali

Cumali works to empower the homeless by engaging with them where they live on Lower Wacker Drive in Chicago without judgment or prerequisite. Once a week on Mondays, volunteers provide hot meals, socks, underwear, blankets, coats, and other clothing.

Food for Greater Elgin

By creating a normal shopping experience, FFGE gives back a small amount of control to our food-insecure shoppers. Our guests leave with a cartful of groceries and the security of knowing they will not have to worry about food.
